Kate Worm, 2-D Judge

Kate Worm holds a bachelor’s degree from Michigan State University and a master's degree from Columbia University Teachers College, with minors in visual arts. She studied figure painting for 4 years with renowned painter and educator Andrew Martin at the University of North Carolina Greensboro. Her figure paintings were featured in American Artist Watercolor, Summer 2006. An on-line version of this article is linked at www.kateworm.com. Kate is a Signature Member of the Watercolor Society of North Carolina (2010 first place winner) and the National Watercolor Society.

Amy F. Levine, 3-D Judge

Amy F. Levine studied art at Binghamton University, NY. She continued her studies at l’Institut Tourraine in Tours, France. Her focus was on painting, sculpture, and ceramics. She received her MFA from C.S. Post College where she created a ceramic and welded steel sculpture for her thesis exhibit. She taught high school art in Massapequa, NY. In 1993, she and her family moved to North Carolina, and in 2002 she opened Artquest Studio, where she pioneered her unique sculptural paintings.

“All of my pieces represent the blending of sculpture and painting, blurring the lines of distinction between the two. The resulting contradictions are integral to the emotional appeal and intellectual presence of my work. Figures are both realistic and amorphous, while spaces may be specific or undefined. Although I use a variety of materials in my mixed media constructions, they are combined in a unified manner, one material melting into the next.”

Artwork by Ms. Levin may be viewed on her website www.amyflewine.com.
